

www.free-foundation.org

roll-in shower chair

A qualified medical professional should educate and train users for appropriate use. It is your responsibility to use this device correctly.

A roll-in shower chair is a type of chair in which the user can roll into the shower area without having to transfer to a shower chair.

The shower area is usually large enough to accommodate the roll-in shower chair and has a low threshold to make it easy to have caregivers roll in and out of the shower. Roll-in shower chairs are meant for level surfaces only. Many roll in showers also have grab bars and a shower seat to make showering easier and safer for people with disabilities.

The shower area is large and spacious, and there are grab bars installed around the perimeter to help you stay safe. The showerhead is also adjustable so that you can customize your showering experience. If you're looking for a more accessible showering option, a roll-in shower chair is a great choice.

It is your responsibility to maintain and provide upkeep of this item. It is your responsibility to use this device correctly.